

SAIR Best IR Website

Institution:

Link to the institution's home page:

Link to the IR website:

Rating scale: Poor (1) - Excellent (6)

General description: An easily navigated impressive display of institutional information and reports covering a wide variety of areas. Users should have the ability to view and print pages with ease using a variety of web browsers. Users should be able to search the website with ease. The intended audience is everyone (institutional faculty and staff, parents and students, other institutions, and the general public).

Judges please rate each category as a whole, rather than each individual question/item within the category.		Rating (1 - 6)
Design: Does the website provide data/information in a new, creative, or novel way? Is the general layout/use of space clean and pleasing to the eye? Is the artistry (i.e.. Typography, font styles, visual elements) exceptional? Is the website easily navigated, well organized, and have a search feature? Is attention to detail obvious (absence of dead ends, etc.)?
Content: Is the mission of the website accomplished? Does the website provide data/information in a new, creative, or novel way? Is the artistry (i.e.. Typography, font styles, visual elements) exceptional? Is the information process easy to follow (i.e.. Perceptual clarity, focus of attention, visibility of functions)? Is attention to detail obvious (absence of mistakes, spelling/grammar errors, and outdated pages)?
Data quality and approach: Is the website useful? Would you, as a potential user, be able to use the site to draw conclusions about the institution? Does the site utilize data of sufficient quality to answer the questions asked?
Originality and Creativity: Is the effective use of leading edge technologies - Java, DHTML, active X, advanced coding, XML, CSS, etc. obvious? Does the IR website show complete database integration and functionality? Is the website distinctive? Does it resonate in your memory?
Overall Quality: An assessment of the website taken on the whole (not necessarily an average of the ratings).
Comments:
Reviewer Ranking: Rank this website as it relates to the other submissions with 1 being the best.		